It seems to be the purpose of the Republicans to allow the Democrats to do all, or sured nearly all, the talking. When their "patience" is exhausted they will probably bring forward and adopt the closure rule. There is an opinion prevalent among them that it would be better to do this in conpection with the tariff bill. Then it will be in operation and ready for use to put through the force bill. The idea of reapportionment of con-

Campaign Work.

It is a matter for public rejoicing that the headquarters of the State Committee of the Democratic party are to be located in Richmond. While there were good reasons for keeping them at Alexandria for several years past, the convenience of all interested now will be best consulted by having them established here, and accordingly rooms will be opened in a few days.

The campaign is sure to be one of unflagging interest, and we much mistake popular sentiment if we do not have the st solid and enthusiastic 'party in Virginia this fall that we have had for many years. Our people are aroused to the enormities of the offences committed by the Republicans at Washington, and are desirous of giving their help in the effort that will be made to depose them.

Soon the nominating conventions will be held, and in a few weeks more the canvass will be inaugurated. Our ora-tors will have much to tell the voters that will arouse them.

City and County. The property-owners of Henrico county have an interest in common with our own citizens in wishing to see Richmond grow in business, wealth, and population. The greater this city becomes the more valuable will be the county lands. Therefore the holders thereof ought to assist us in paving the way for the extension of the corporate limits and in removing all ob-

PETERBRUEG, Va., July 29, 1886.

A gentleman who has just returned from a trip to Brunswick declared the crop outlook in that county to be the best known in many years. To use his own words: "The crops are magnificent." The cotton, the tobacco, the corn, and all other crops in that section are said to be in splendid condition, and the planters are happy accordingly. One planter in Brunswick expects to realize over 250 bales of cotton this season.

Captain Ward, in discussing features of the Lodge bill, remarked that the greatest trouble would be experienced in enforcing its provisions. It would be difficult, he thinks, to secure enough men of intelligence, force, and fearlessness to see to the enforcement of the law. Men who will petition for its execution as provided will be ostricised. If they are dependent on daily toil for livelihood they will experience difficulty in securing work. In higher offices the incumbents will be subject to the social flattery and preferment of men who will court them simply for the power they will possess. The spirit of ostracism, which has been dying out, now will be revived. The white Democrats will leave no effort untried to invalidate the bill, make it non-effective, and thus continue themselves in power. elves in power.

Now it is held that when the canal ceased to exist the land occupied in its construction reverted to its former owners, and it is upon this claim that a suit for land damages is brought by Mr. Edward Moon, through counsel, against the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company.

F. C. Moon, Esq., of Scottsville, and Daniel Harmon and George Perkins, Esqs., of Charlottesville, are counsel for the plaintiff, while Thomas S. Martin, Esq., of Scottsville, and W. W. Gordon, Esq., and others of Richmond are counsel for the railroad company.

The negro who so brutally beat a little colored girl in his charge in this county some days since, and who was sentenced therefore to jail for twelve months, an account of which was published in the Dispatch, took an appeal to the County Court and gave bail in the sum of $500. He since started on a run to escape further trouble, but his bondsman caught up with him, and he is now confined in jail. A LADY PROTOGRAPHER.

Scottsville has imbued a lady here, already in the millinery business, with the idea of opening a photograph gallery in conjunction therewith. This is a new departure, and when this lady shall have entered the picture business she will doubtless be the only female photographer in the State.

order to procure the attendance of a quorum, Mr. Morgan presented resolutions adopted at a public meeting of Republicans in Birmingham. Ala., against the passage of the electron bill.

Mr. Sawyer, from the Post-Office Committee, reported back the Senate bill to establish a limited postal and telegraph service. Placed on the calendar.

Mr. Sherman offered a resolution (which went over till to-morrow) for a daily meeting of the Senate at 10 A. M.

Mr. Ingalls introduced a bill to establish a department of communication and said that it was prepared by and introduced at the request of the Wages-Worker's Alliance.

The tariff bill was then taken up, the pending question being on Mr. McPherson's amendment, offered yesterday, to reduce the duty on acetic or pyroligneous acid not exceeding a specific gravity of 147-100 from 15 cents to I cent per pound, and exceeding that gravity from 4 to 3 cents per pound. The amendment was rejected by a party vote—yeas, 20; mays, 27.

according to authentic testimony, and yet a duty of 5 cents a pound was to be imposed upon it. And for what purpose? To protect the great trust and combine which had agreed to limit borax and boracic acid to the amount which the market would take.

Mr. Stewart remarked that when this article was on the free list the price was 20 cents per pound.

Mr. Morgan argued against the increase of duty on borax and boracic acid as bearing

Mr. Morgan argued against the increase of duty on borax and boracie acid as bearing with strong discrimination against the iron industries of Alabama, in which borax and boracic acid were largely used. He was in favor of the reduction proposed by Mr. McPherson, and thought that if justice were to be done boracic acid should be put on the free list.

Mr. McPherson's amendment was rejected by a party vote—yeas, 25; nays, 30.

Mr. McFnerson's amendment was rejected by a party vote—yeas, 25; nays, 30.

MOST EXTREME OF PROTECTIVE MEASURES.

Mr. Jones, of Arkansas, addressed the Senate in opposition to the bill, which he characterized as the most radical and extreme measure of protection ever presented. It was a practical declaration on the part of the Republican party that the war-tariff was never to be reduced, but that the exorbitant taxes were to be permanent, and a declaration of war against foreign commerce. Referring to the Farmers' Alliance, he declared that that man read the signs of the times amiss who believed that the old policy was to continue much longer. He firmly believed that the present period of protection gone mad would inaugurate a movement that would in its effects and consequences surpass all previous unbeavals of the kind. The protective system would be crushed and cast out as an utter abomination.

The next line of the bill having been read by the Clerk, "chromic acid, 6 cents per pound," Mr. McPherson moved to amend by substituting for the existing duty 15 per cent ad calorem.

The debate on this amendment took a general political character and had no reference whatever to the amendment. The speakers were Messrs. Gorman, Aldrich, McPherson, Hiscock, Blair, Sherman, and Voorhees.

Mr. HISCOCK FOR BADICALISM IN GENERAL.

MR. HISCOCK FOR RADICALISM IN GENERAL.

Mr. Hiscock remarked that so much had been said in reference to influences which had produced the pending bill that it seemed proper to him that something should be said in reply to those charges. The Senator from Maryland (Mr. Gorman) had said that the Republican National Convention had pledged itself to protection. It had. The pending bill was an illustration of that platform. He repelled the charge that Republican success at the last election was the result of the influence of manufacturers or monopolists. In reference to a statement of Mr. Gorman's as to refusal of the Finance Committee to give hearings to persons interested, Mr. Hiscock said that it had refused to give hearings to representatives of the manufacturers of Germany, France, England, and Belgium. The place for them to be heard was where the Democratic members of that committee were in conference. He did not know how much money had been contributed to the Democratic election fund by those interests. contributed to the Democratic election fund by those interests, but he knew that every day that the tariff bill was delayed was largely to the profit of foreign manu-facturers. Mr. Hiscock warned the Democratic senators not to indulge in idle prophecies about 1892. In his (Hiscock's) judgment the pending bill would become a law amended of course to get the judgment of senators and of the House of Representatives. In his judgment the Democratic National Convention in 1892 would abandon forever its platform and its policy and its tariff bill of 1888, and protection would be accepted as the settled policy of both political parties. He begged of the Democratic senator therefore, to make no prophecy for the future. "We have," he said, "met all your forces and you are ours. You are ours. That battle was not a drawn battle. You did not camp on the battle-field. We went into the contest of 1888 to conquer you with all your unholy alliances and we conquered, and so often as you insist on this issue, so often as you force it on the American people you will rush to defeat and disaster."

THE AUTOCRATIC SPEAKER.

Mr. Struble (Republican), of Iowa, said that he was in favor of suitable buildings for every executive department of the Government, but he rose to speak on the question of public buildings as represented by the unfinished calendar of the House, upon which were thirty-five bills passed by the Committee of the Whole May 29th, not one of which had been permitted to be considered by the Speaker of the House. He wanted to say (and he regretted that the Speaker was not here to hear him) that he felt it an outrage on the judgment of the House that any one, be he Speaker or member, should undertake to say that the House should have no opportunity to carry out that judgment. He would go from this hall and argue that this House had done a grand work and had passed many bills for which it was entitled to the gratitude of the country, but that did not deter him from protesting against the indignity put upon him and other members. During the last Administration bills were approved for public buildings in the South in places of 7,000 inhabitants, and yet the Sioux City bill had been vetoed. That was past and gone now, but, as he had said before, the Speaker of the last House had never failed to give courteous treatment to members of the Republican side.
